Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS

By Joseph M Sanderson,
For Publishing by Subscription,
A Biography of the Signers
OF THE
Declaration of Independence,
Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with ineffectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers of half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

"A cloud came o'er my soul."

O welcome is the cloud of night
That makes the morrow's dawn more dear,
Or dewy veil that falleth light
The summer's fervid breast to cheer:
The thunder-cloud of fate and fear
Doth in its folds a blessing bring,
And weeps in showers its wasteful shock:
Even winter's rudest storms but rock
The cradle of the spring.

But ah! far other are the clouds
That wrap the sickening soul in gloom,—
That clothe the heaven in funeral shrouds,
And darken like a living tomb [bloom
This beauteous earth,—whose breathing
Might sooth the sullen heart of care—
Where bounteous nature pours around
Her healing balm for every wound,
Unpoison'd by despair!

* * * * *

O Thou! whose everlasting arm
Spread like a tent yon azure sky,
And framed those glorious worlds to charm
Th' adoring heart, the raptured eye—
Who through the vale of misery
Canst guide though doubt and danger press—
Chase from my soul these shades of night,
That shroud from my bewildered sight,
The Sun of Righteousness. S.

ISLANDS OF OWHYHEE.

A missionary establishment is about to be made on the Islands of Owhyhee; they lie in the South sea, in about from nineteen to twenty-two degrees north, and longitude from one hundred and fifty-one to one hundred and sixty west. The natives of Owhyhee have already made very considerable advances in civilization. Their late or present king, Pomare, wrote a very legible hand, a specimen of which we have seen. His prime minister was named Mr. Pitt; his minister of justice was tattooed in one half of his body—the other half was of a bright and shining color, the natural complexion of the natives.—He would set with great dignity and hear the parties, plaintiff and defendant, & to whichever of the parties he turned the sable side of his countenance judgment was given. The king, in imitation of European monarchs, gave a pompous entertainment on his birth day.

An American ship having been seen off the Island of Tahete, a canoe came along side, and the captain and hands were all much astonished to hear the natives speak the English language. The canoe contained no less a personage than Mr Pitt. He came on board and informed the captain of the character of his guest: he stated that he came by the orders of his royal master, in whose name he demanded the donation of a bottle of rum, which was to be drank upon his birth day.—They are an amiable people, who, if they once profess friendship, are invincible in their fidelity. They are peculiarly cleanly in their persons—if the least stain or pollution of any sort is found upon their bodies they immediately betake themselves to the water, an element in which they so much delight, that they may almost be denominated an amphibious race of animals. The missionaries have already made a powerful impression on the minds of those simple children of nature: the gods that they formerly worshipped have been made, by Pomare, a present to the British museum. [Baltimore Chronicle.

Oswego, October 23.

A few days ago an Irishman deserted from the British garrison at Fort George, and swam across the Niagara river. Having divested himself of all those articles which would impede his swimming, he exclaimed on reaching the shore, "I'm an American born—I've just come stark naked."

A gentleman went to Paris to spend his money, and to be initiated in all the secrets of the reigning fashions. Amongst other teachers, he engaged a dancing master; but he could never prevail on his pupil to turn out his toes. "I tell you what," said the latter, when pressed on this point, "I'll pay you double for every lesson, but then you must teach me to dance with my toes turned in."

General W, when past eighty years of age, married a very amiable young lady of about eighteen. He was an acquaintance of Kant's, the philosopher, whom he informed of his having married, adding, "I don't think I have to hope for any posterity." "Certainly not," rejoined Kant, "but to fear."

MODERATION.

The Life of Life is society; of society, freedom; of freedom the discreet and moderate use of it.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 6.

In a subsequent column will be found a proposal for publishing a Sermon composed for the benefit of the sick and distressed poor of Baltimore. We do not question, in the smallest degree, the purity of the writer's motives; and we sincerely hope that he may aid the cause of suffering humanity, by his intended publication. We copy from the author's preface, for the information of our readers, the following excellent remarks, in the propriety of which, we perfectly coincide. We hope our editorial brethren in Baltimore, Georgetown, &c. will take some notice of the present article, in their respective journals.

PREFACE.

"The author of the following discourse, in committing it to the press, has been influenced by motives which he is neither ashamed nor afraid to avow. The principal one is that of promoting the welfare of his fellow creatures, and of alleviating, as far as he possibly can, the miseries, and relieving the distresses of the poor and sick resident in Baltimore.

"The situation of the poor sufferers in Baltimore, has excited the sympathy and active benevolence of a great number of well-disposed citizens in various sections of the Union. The inhabitants of Georgetown in particular, have done honor to their christian name and character, by collecting a very liberal sum* for the relief of the Baltimore sufferers. The inhabitants of Alexandria have not yet, in their collective capacity, subscribed any sum for the same benevolent purpose.

"The author is unwilling to believe that the inhabitants of Alexandria and its vicinity (many of whom are extremely wealthy,) are less disposed to acts of charity and benevolence than their neighbors in other places. He cannot avoid, however, the expression of his great surprise and regret, that on a recent occasion, when the members of the different religious denominations in Alexandria assembled at their respective churches, in pursuance of public appointment, to return thanks to Almighty God, for their preservation from sickness—the author cannot avoid lamenting, that no collection was then made for the benefit of their needy and afflicted fellow citizens.

"In expressing a wish that something may yet be effected in Alexandria, for the relief of the poor in Baltimore, the author begs to announce his intention of appropriating the profits arising from the sale of this sermon (if any) to the use of the poor in Baltimore. His publisher in Alexandria is charged with the duty of remitting the moneys which may be raised in this way.

"That his motives may be questioned by some, for appearing in so prominent a manner as the advocate of the poor and destitute, is an event in itself by no means improbable. The author anticipates objections and objectors. It is the common fate of every writer, however pure his motives, or benevolent his intentions.

"The author could have wished the present appeal to have been made through the medium of the pulpit, by the ministers of religion themselves. The sacred office, he presumes to think, could never have been better sustained than in promoting an act of practical benevolence. The clergy may, perhaps, view this sermon with an unfavorable eye, and represent it as an illegitimate or unauthorised performance. However that may be, the author rests perfectly satisfied with his motives. His conscience tells him they are not improper, and its approbation is, to him, of more consequence, than that of all the legitimate preachers in the universe. Let not this observation be misunderstood. He means no disrespect to the clergy, for whom, when they properly discharge their duty, he feels unqualified esteem. He considers it, however, as his duty as a christian, to omit no proper opportunity of doing good to his fellow creatures, which offers itself; and he flatters himself, that the present humble attempt to serve the cause of suffering humanity, may not prove altogether abortive and unavailing."

* Seven hundred dollars were remitted by the Mayor of Georgetown for their relief.

On the 31st October, the venerable John Adams entered on the 85th year of his useful and honorable life.

It is proposed to make port St. Louis (Missouri) a port of entry. More than 3000 miles from the ocean.

The Ohio river continues unusually low. Captain Green of Cincinnati lately measured the perpendicular distance from the water in its present state, to its utmost height in 1817, and found it to be 57 feet 4 inches!

AMERICAN MANUFACTURE.

We have examined with much pleasure, at a glass warehouse in Cornhill, a cut glass bowl, foot and cover, forming a perfect urn, of very ample dimensions, made and cut at the New-England glassworks, at Lechmere's Point, by Mr. John Fisher and Mr. John Gilleland. To the eye of the observer, the appearance of this article sufficiently shows its excellence; but we have been assured by gentlemen of knowledge and independence, that for quality of glass, elegance, variety and intricacy of workmanship, it cannot be excelled in any manufactory in Europe. This may be considered a bold assertion, but we are confident of its veracity. It was exhibited at the late Brighton Show, but was not then complete. [Bos. Cent.

FALSE ALARM.

It is now confirmed that the squadron of two ships and two frigates, lately expedited from a British port—which has been exaggerated to a fleet of twelve sail of the line, and which has excited so much false alarm and futile speculation—is destined to the Pacific Ocean, on the pacific errand of protecting the commerce of that sea. [Ibid.

Important to those interested in forwarding merchandize, &c. on the western waters.

A gentleman in this place has received a letter from a merchant residing at Wellsburg, Va. on the Ohio, dated the 25th Oct. stating, that it had been raining and snowing for the last six or seven days, and that the river had risen two feet, and every appearance of a further considerable rise of the water. [Balt. pap.

NOVEL LEGAL DECISION.

A suit was lately instituted in the Fayette circuit court of Kentucky, on behalf of the Bank of the United States, by its office at Lexington, for the recovery of the amount of a note for 600 dollars. A demurer was filed by the defendant, on the ground that the Bank of the United States has no right to purchase or deal in promissory notes; and the court, Judge Mills on the bench, sustained the demurer, and discharged the defendant, the bank having to pay costs. A SUDDEN STRIFE—IN MARRIAGE LIFE.

In the Winchester Constellation, of the 2d ult. is published the marriage of John Kyer, to Mary Dewberry, which was solemnized on the Tuesday preceding; and in the same paper, Mr. Kyer advertises his wife after this wise:—"All persons are forewarned not to trust my wife Mary on my account, as I will pay no debt of her contracting from this date—nor will I have any thing more to do with her."

From this it seems Mr. Kyer did not find his Dewberry so sweet as he had anticipated! [News Letter.

[FROM THE CURRACOA COURANT, OCT. 2.]

Accounts from Hayti state, that the President Boyer had caused his Senate to pass an act enabling foreign merchants to recover, by legal process, debts contracted by the natives. Heretofore, strangers were compelled to receive produce in payment of their demands, at an exhorbitant price, or wait the pleasure of their debtors. This wise regulation, it is justly expected will greatly augment the trade of Hayti.

The Salem Gazette, in referring to the approaching session of congress, observes: "What will most interest the feelings and occupy the minds of the members will be the canvassing and intrigues for the presidential election, which is to take place next fall. The candidates are numerous: besides the incumbent, are Crawford, Adams, Clay, and Clinton. Mr. Monroe will be re-elected, unless Crawford, Clinton, and Clay form a coalition, and agree to divide the spoils of office among themselves and followers.

Mr. Plimpton, now of Albany, but a native of Medway, Mass. has invented a musical instrument, which he calls an Apollino.

The Apollino combines the music of a church organ, a grand orchestra, a martial band and a harp. The whole or any part to be performed by one person on six octaves of piano forte or organ keys and five pedals.

Organs—49 pipes of stop diapason, 49 do. principal, open diapason of organ, great double diapason of organ.

Swell—25 dulcianno, 25 flageolets, 25 imitation of birds.

Martial and Orchestra—25 clarinets, 5 bugles, 25 trumpets, 8 French horns, 12 bassoons, 10 serpents, 28 flutes, 28 fifes, 37 strings on violin and violincello, 37 do. on harp, bass drum, snare drum, symbals—

Harmonica—25 musical glasses.

Trenton, (New-Jersey) Nov. 1.

On the 21st ult. the legislature of New-Jersey convened in this city.

The legislative council made choice of Jesse Upson, Esq. vice-president, and Jas. Linn, Esq. secretary; and the house of assembly elected David Thompson, Esq. speaker, and Daniel Coleman, Esq. clerk.

On the 29th both houses, in joint meeting, re-elected his excellency Isaac H. Williamson, Esq. governor, for the ensuing year.

The legislature will probably adjourn near the close of this week, to meet again in the winter.

Providence, (R. I.) Oct. 29.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

We learn from South-Kingston, that the general assembly formed a quorum on Tuesday last. The new house of representatives was organized by the choice, without opposition, of James D'Wolf, Esq. as speaker, and Thomas Rivers, Esq. as clerk. The committee on the subject of insolvency, not being prepared to make a report, the house voted not to enter on the docket of insolvent petitions, at the present session.—A charter has been granted to the institution for savings in this town.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

This morning arrived below, the fast sailing ship William Penn, Capt. James Hamilton, in 35 days from Liverpool. Capt. Hamilton has obligingly favored us with a complete file of Liverpool papers to the 26th of Sept. being 12 days later than our previous accounts. On a rapid glance at their contents we find nothing of a very interesting nature. The public journals were teeming with animadversions on the government with regard to the proceedings at Manchester; and the prince regent in his answer to the address of the common council had adopted a tone of rebuke very little calculated to soothe the public sensibility.

The mayor of Liverpool had been requested to call a public meeting to petition the prince regent to institute an efficient, strict and solemn enquiry into the proceedings at Manchester, but had refused; in consequence of which a notice for a public meeting to be held in Clayton square, on the 29th Sept. was published, signed by twenty-four of the most respectable men in Liverpool.

There has been but very little fluctuation in the market, as will be perceived by the prices quoted below.

Several regiments had been ordered to be disbanded.

A large balloon was exhibiting in Liverpool and a Mr. Livingston intended to make an ascension the 27th September.

Serious riots had occurred at Glasgow and Paisley; and indeed the whole British empire appears to be in an unusual state of fermentation. Hunt was visiting the theatres & other places of public resort, and was every where received with shouts and cheerings.

In France the public attention appeared to be entirely occupied by the pending elections. The ultras boast of a triumph in the election of M. Castlebajac, for Toulouse.

The new queen of Spain arrived at Lyons the 16th Sept. She travelled without state, and declined a guard of honor.

Accounts from Madrid represented that the yellow fellow had extended from Cadiz to Seville.

The prince regent, attended by Sir Geo. Cockburn, had been on a visit to Portsmouth, from whence he was to make a cruise of 8 or 10 days in the royal yacht.

Mr. Smith, the actor, better known by the appellation of gentleman Smith, died on the 18th Sept. in the 89th year of his age. His performance of Charles, in the School for Scandal, has been considered the most perfect representation on the stage.

Reports were renewed on the continent of serious differences between the courts of Petersburg, Vienna and Berlin, respecting the projects of the emperor of Russia with regard to Poland.

SANDWICH MISSION.

The following is an Extract of an Address delivered by the Rev. T. Gallaudet at Hartford, on the evening of the 11th, immediately after the Marriage of the Rev. Hiram Bingham to Miss Mosely, who are to sail this week for the Sandwich Islands as Missionaries.

EXTRACT.

Ah! we sometimes hear the propriety of such adventures, as they are termed, called in question. For it is easy and pleasant for those of us who sit quietly by our own fire-sides, surrounded with comforts and luxury, to wonder at the rashness of those who embark in such hazardous enterprises; and while we shrink from self-denial, and do so little for the cause of Christ, we hope in some measure to palliate our neglect by finding fault with those who do no more. And, strange as it may seem, Woman—sent by Heaven as an help meet for man; designed to share and soothe his sorrows: participate in, and lighten his cares; to excite by her gentler influence, and invigorate by her kind remonstrances his languishing efforts in the path of duty;—Woman—who may have less active courage, but more unbending fortitude, than man; whose instinctive good sense extricates from difficulties which his boasted sagacity cannot surmount:—Woman—who like the vestal of old, keeps bright the lamp of domestic piety in the quiet of her retirement, while man suffers its flame to be almost extinguished in the tumultuous bustle of the world:—Woman—may be the admired heroine of a novel; or follow her husband through the fatigues of a military campaign, and attend him amid all the horrors of war; or traverse with him the mighty deep and spend years in some sultry clime, while he is toiling to make his fortune; she may do all this, and receive the loudest plaudits of approbation for her intrepidity and constancy; but let her become the partner of some humble missionary, who goes to fight the battles of the cross, and to win an incorruptible crown, and she no longer has any claim to magnanimity and fortitude of soul; she must consent to bear the reproach of weekness or rashness.—Take up this reproach ye daughters of Zion, and patiently endure it; followers of her, whose dust reposes in India, but whose spirit now rejoices in Heaven ever her past sufferings in the cause of Christ, and may the same arm which shielded Rebekah, who at the call of Providence, left her kindred and home, even the almighty arm of the God of Abraham, of Isaac and of Jacob, ever sustain and protect you.

BANKRUPT LAW.

From the Southern Patriot.

As there appears to be no difference of sentiment as to the expediency of the passage of a Bankrupt Act, it is proper that the merchants of each of our commercial cities should unite in petitions to the next Congress, for this important purpose. The merchants of New-York have set a just example in putting their names to a memorial on this subject, which will be presented at an early day to the attention of the National Legislature, and we hope that the merchants of Charleston will not be negligent in so important a matter. We expect that they will also memorialize with the other cities of the United States, and let Congress behold, from the unanimity of opinion on the subject, that the passage of a Bankrupt Law cannot be any longer postponed without the greatest violence to justice and humanity.

How many of our fellow citizens are now oppressed with the weight of debts which operate like an interdiction to the exercise of their talents and industry for the benefit of their families, and of society? How many are suffering through the imprudence or dishonesty of others, by lending their names, some it is true, for mutual accommodation, but numbers in the spirit of disinterested friendship? How many again that have failed in business, not from extragant living or imprudent speculations, but from those reverses in trade that falsify the calculations even of the most experienced? Are all these to be confounded with the spendthrift and the man destitute of honor and honesty?—Is the creditor still to be defrauded of his rights through the laxity of the insolvent Laws of the States and their discordance? Is he yet to be subject to the whole of the vexatious and disgraceful arts, employed to cover the property of the debtor, in too successful operation amongst us? A Bankrupt Law, if it would not at once sweep away the whole of these corrupt practices, will at least lessen the range of their operation.—There cannot be presented to the debtor, under a Bankrupt Act, the same choice of modes as at present, to defraud the creditor. The latter will be better able to discover some of the springs of that machinery which the former can under the existing system, so successfully play off in secret against him. At any rate, for the credit of the country—for the abuse of abused justice and humanity, we should attempt a cure for the evil.

There is one aspect in which the subject presents itself, that merits some attention. We conceive, that if we had possessed a proper Bankrupt Law from the establishment of our Constitution, we should not now have to deplore, to the same extent, the fatal consequences of overstrained credit, speculation and extravagance. The penalties of such an act would have operated as a check at least on the borrowers, who being aware that they could be enforced with despatch, and with less chance of eluding the payment of his debts, by trick or artifice, would have had fewer temptations to borrow. The procrastination incident to the prosecution of claims in our courts of justice, and the facili-

It will check that disposition so general in men to strain their credit beyond its just limits, and thus lessen that flood of ills that from this fruitful source has deluged society.

POOR OF BALTIMORE,

By Sympatheticus.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."—Mat. ch. XXV. v. 40.

The profits arising from the sale of this sermon (which is published at the request of several judicious and benevolent individuals, whom the author highly esteems) will be appropriated by the publisher, in aid of the fund, established at Baltimore, for the relief of the sick and distressed poor of that city. It is hoped by the author and publisher, that the inhabitants of Alexandria, to whom the sermon is addressed, will not suffer this appeal to their benevolence, to be made to them in vain.

Subscribers' names will be received at the Gazette office, or by a person duly appointed for the purpose.

Missing.

ABOUT seven years past, I borrowed a small old wire cage of Mr. Rt. Conway, to put a bird in at the Museum. The cage remained in my possession about ten days, and having no further use for it, I sent it to him, and supposed he had received it, as I never heard any thing of it till lately. It has been determined by a magistrate that I must return the same cage within ten days, or pay the sum of five dollars, being the value set upon it. Perhaps some person may have this cage, without knowing to whom it belongs. I would be much obliged, if I could receive any information on this subject.

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior court of chancery for the district of Fredericksburg in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next,

4000 Acres of Land,

lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg. The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from one to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, who is employed to make a survey of it, and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will shew the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. One-third cash, and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

ANDW. ROUNSAVELL,

september 8 Jailor.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.

June 11 tf

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS, if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. WM HAWLEY, Washington, Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria, Rev. OLIVER NORRIS, Alexandria, Rev. REUEL KEITH, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to these great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June26
